

MEVLANA EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The Mevlana Exchange Program is an international student and academic staff exchange program administered by the Council of Higher Education (YÖK). Within the scope of this program, students study at universities abroad for a minimum of one semester and a maximum of two semesters. Academic staff likewise benefit from the exchange process by participating in academic activities at higher education institutions abroad.

The program aims not only to promote academic mobility but also to foster cultural interaction, support the development of international networks, and provide participants with the opportunity to become familiar with different educational environments. Covering all academic units of Ege University, the program is also open to students and academic staff of our Conservatory. Course activities and program coordination are carried out in cooperation with the Conservatory and the Ege University Mevlana Coordination Office.
